CALL FOR SUBMISSIONS

Submission deadline:

September 14, 2020 !

The 34th John H. Dunning Doctoral Tutorial (JHD-DT) and the 9th Danny Van Den Bulcke Doctoral Symposium (DVDB-DS) – both targeted towards International Business doctoral students – are the pre-conference doctoral events that will be organized in conjunction with the 46th Annual Conference of the European International Business Academy (EIBA).

The JHD-DT and the DVDB-DS will both take place online on December 10, 2020 – Day 1 of the EIBA 2020 Online Conference.

ATTENTION: Please note that all accepted students participating in the doctoral events must be duly & fully registered for the EIBA 2020 online conference – this is a mandatory eligibility requirement.

34th JOHN H. DUNNING DOCTORAL TUTORIAL

The Doctoral Tutorial is a rigorous one-day workshop with the aim of attracting applications from doctoral students who, although not yet nearing completion of their thesis, are at an advanced stage and have already developed a clear idea of the theories, methods and data they will use (or are in the process of collecting), and of their intended research design. So, especially applications from doctoral candidates who are mid-way through their thesis will be considered. (NOTE: PhD students in the early stages may be interested in applying for the Doctoral Symposium instead). Students from schools that do not have established IB faculty research groups are particularly encouraged to apply. The Doctoral Tutorial gives the participants the opportunity to present and discuss their doctoral projects with a panel of world-class professors. Please note that attendance to the whole workshop is mandatory and participants are required to have their cameras on during the whole event.

This year's Doctoral Tutorial will be co-chaired by Jean-François HENNART and Gabriel R. G. BENITO. For more details on the 2020 JHD-DT (including format, application guidelines and important dates), please refer to the 34th John H. Dunning Tutorial website:

9th DANNY VAN DEN BULCKE DOCTORAL SYMPOSIUM

The Doctoral Symposium is a half-day event with a joint opening plenary on a topical issue and small roundtable discussions. At each roundtable, 2-3 doctoral students are paired with 2-3 faculty members to discuss proposals in a friendly and informal setting. The symposium is specifically designed as a forum for doctoral students at an early stage of their dissertation process. In other words, these students are currently in the initial phases of defining their research design, including the selection of theories, methods as well as type and source of data.

(NOTE: PhD students at a more advanced stage may be interested in applying for the one-day John H. Dunning Doctoral Tutorial instead.)

The 2020 Doctoral Symposium will be co-chaired by Rebecca PIEKKARI and Olga LAVRUSHEVA. For more details on the 2020 DVDB-DS (including format, application guidelines and important dates), please refer to the 9th Danny Van Den Bulcke Doctoral Symposium website:

https://www.eiasm.org/frontoffice/event\_announcement.asp?event\_id=1488

ATTENTION: Applications not accepted for the John H. Dunning Doctoral Tutorial are considered for the Danny Van Den Bulcke Doctoral Symposium. However, the final decisions of acceptance rest solely with the respective co-chairs.

APPLICATION FOR THE EIBA 2020 DOCTORAL EVENTS

If you are interested in the EIBA 2020 Doctoral Events, please apply by September 14, 2020:

- a three-page abstract of your current doctoral research. This should be in Times Roman 12-point font, with single line spacing. There is a page limit of three (3) pages including any figures or tables, excluding references. (See the event websites for more details on how to structure your application.)
- your CV – at the top of which should be included:
  - the length of time, in months or years, that you have been working on your doctoral thesis;
  - the name of your main thesis supervisor/advisor;
  - the university or institution where your research is registered, and the department where you work.

To submit your application to the EIBA 2020 Doctoral Events (34th John H. Dunning Doctoral Tutorial / 9th Danny Van Den Bulcke Doctoral Symposium), please refer to the respective event website – see links above.

We look forward to receiving your application for the EIBA 2020 Doctoral Events soon!
